Answer Key:

Animals: predators

People/Organizations: rescue groups

Nature: wildlife, survival

Grammar:

2nd conditional

- imaginary/unreal/hypothetical condition
- imaginary/unreal/hypothetical result

CONDITION

IF + past simple

If I won the lottery,

RESULT

would + infinitive

I would buy a mansion.

might / could

SIMPLE PAST

We use the simple past after IF to talk about an imaginary or unreal condition.

Examples:

- If I had more time, ...
- If she won the lottery, ...
- If they lived near the beach, ...

THE MODAL VERB WOULD

We use WOULD + base verb (infinitive) to express the result of the condition.

Examples:

- I would travel around the world.
- She would buy a new car.
- They would be happy.

Auxiliary did for negatives sentences:

Simple past	(did)	Would + verb
Si ellos no entrenaran,		no ganarian el campeonato
In they didn't train		they wouldn't win the championship

Middle Activities: Controlled/ Free practice

Listening: The students listen the following text:

He believes wild animals are important for nature and people. Wild animals help keep ecosystems in balance. Bees and birds help many plants to grow properly. Without predators, some animals would eat too much of the forest. Wild animals help people because they are connected to health. Fruit bats help rainforest trees by spreading their seeds. These trees are useful to make medicines. If we lost bats, we would lose useful plants. We should save wildlife; for example, in areas like the Bosawás Biosphere Reserve, In Nicaragua, wild animals live safely. Saving and protecting wild animals means saving the planet.

Writing: The students put in order the following sentence:

1. If / it/ were/ a / holiday/ we/ would / not /be / working / today
2. Run away/ would/ I / a snake/ saw / If / I
3. If/ an / injured animal / I / would / call /a rescue group/ I found/

Reading: The students read the following text and answer the questions:

Wild animals are important for nature. Bees and birds help many plants grow. Fruit bats spread seeds in forests. Predators keep ecosystems balanced. Rescue groups help protect injured animals. If people protected wildlife more, many animals would survive.

Questions:

1. What animals help plants grow?
2. What do fruit bats do?
3. Who helps injured animals?
4. What keeps ecosystems balanced?
5. What would happen if people protected wildlife more?

Speaking (20 minutes):Pair Interview:

1. What is your favorite wild animal?
2. Why is it important?
3. Have you ever seen a wild animal?
4. What would you do if you found an injured animal?
5. What would happen if wild animals disappeared?

Ending ActivitiesWrap up:

1. Teacher throws the balloon randomly.
2. Student says one second conditional sentence.
