

NATIONAL INSTITUTE SAN RAMON /LA CORONA/ DIDACTIC PROGRAMMING"TEACHER'S NAMES: KATLIN HERNANDEZ, LEONEL RAMOS, DANIA OSEGUEDA.GRADE: EIGHTHCREATED BY: LIC. DANIA ELIZABETH OSEGUEDA TINOCO MONTHS: JUNE /JULY GRADE: EIGHTCross-curricular theme: Self-RegulationComponent: Social skills.Competence: Acknowledging growth, reflecting on my abilities as a child, accepting changes, overcoming criticismGrade Competence: The student compares past things and actions with those in the present.

The student analyzes varied types of listening and reading texts to express their opinions in oral and written language.

The student outlines his/her ideas to produce stories related to past events and experiences.

Unit	Achievement Indicator	Content	Evaluation Criteria	Date
III. A Journey Through Past	The student expands their cultural knowledge when reading and listening texts in the past.	Lesson 3. Talking about famous people in the past Vocabulary: key words Grammar: When and While Listening: listening for gist Speaking: Exchanging information in the past about famous people	He /she recognizes famous people and cultural practices from the past He/she organizes their writings in a coherent structure He/she participates in discussions, demonstrating their ability to relate cultural concepts from the texts	June 2 nd /6th
	The student writes stories including supporting details in the past. The student asks and answers questions in the past	Lesson 4. Writing a story in the past. Vocabulary: Context clues Grammar: Subject/object questions Reading: Using context to understand new vocabulary Speaking: asking and answering questions in past Writing: writing a story	He /she identifies details that create an engaging and clear story. He/she uses past tense correctly to narrate events. He/she follows all the instructions during the class.	June 9 th /13th

Cross-curricular theme: Self-Regulation

Component: Social skills.

Competence: Recognizing emotions, reflecting on self-control, setting boundaries, and the bigger picture

Grade Competence: The student uses reading and listening strategies to get comprehension of authentic texts related to food.

☐ The student expresses personal preferences and describes food procedures in different communicative settings.

☐ The student states clear instructions to write a process paragraph coherently about making dishes or meals that he/she likes.

Unit	Achievement Indicator	Content	Evaluation Criteria	Date
IV What do you need today?	The student asks for the correct amount in many products in different contexts.	Lesson 1. Buying food Grammar: count, noncount, a/an Reading: Identifying words using visual support Speaking: Role-playing a conversation about buying food. Listening: 1. Making inferences and understanding the topic. Language Functions: 1. Understanding texts related to food.	He/she applies their understanding of quantity and context across various settings He/she selects the quantity based on the situation He /she demonstrates positive attitudes in order to improve their learning	June 16 th /20
	The student writes a conversation between a shop assistant and a customer	Lesson 2: Buying at the corner store Grammar: how much, how many, and quantities (some, a few, a little) Listening: listening for important details Speaking: Role -playing a customer – clerk conversation. Language Functions: 2. Exchanging information related to food.	He /she Correctly differentiates between "how much" (uncountable) and "how many" (countable). He/she maintains a logical sequence in the conversation He/she shows polite and respectful language	June 23 rd /30th
	The student understands texts related to food through reading and listening texts	Lesson 3. Talking about different dishes in your community Vocabulary: traditional dishes Grammar: there is /there are, quantifiers Listening: making sentences and understanding the topic. Speaking: Talking about different dishes there are in your community Language Functions. Communicating information about food	He/she identifies the names of ingredients and how they relate to different traditional dishes. He/she uses appropriate sentence structures to talk about food He/she values traditional food as part of cultural identity.	July 1 st /11 th
	The student produces texts and explains how they prepare food using sequence markers, quantifiers, and imperatives.	Lesson 4. Writing a recipe Vocabulary: Cooking verbs Grammar: Sequencers, quantifiers, and imperatives (review) Listening: Listening for specific information Writing: Writing a recipe Language Functions: Producing texts about food with coherence using proper lexis and structures.	he/she identifies imperatives, cooking verbs and recipe format. He/she writes a clear and organized recipe using appropriate format (ingredients list + steps). He/she is open to giving and receiving feedback to improve their writing.

--	--	--	--	--